

Jim Winch LCC

"Good evening ladies and gentlemen and welcome to Haskell Field." These words are something that has been said several times over the last few years on Friday nights. While nothing extremely special about that phrase, what is special is the person who has been saying them. Dr. Lee Dahl. Dr. Dahl has spent around 20 years helping the Laurel-Concord and now the Laurel-Concord-Coleridge School, serving as the announcer for all home football games. Also thanks to his support for the school, Dr. Dahl volunteers his time as the clock operator during home basketball games. The number of games and hours that he has provided to the school are too great to count, and his dedication to the school is so greatly appreciated that we would like to nominate him for the Jim Winch Award from the Lewis & Clark Conference.

Jim Winch Randolph

Randolph Public Schools would like to nominate Raymond Weyhrich for the Lewis and Clark Jim Winch Service Award.

Ray has operated the scoreboard at all levels of Randolph football games for 25 years. He has announced and operated the scoreboard for all Randolph basketball and volleyball games at all levels, for 30 years. He is very willing to do this any school day as well as any weekend.

For the community, Ray has operated the baseball scoreboard and announced the play by play for the Senior and Junior Legion for the past 14 years.

As a lifelong member of the community, Ray is an avid supporter of all Randolph sports and can be seen at most games. He loves to play golf and can be seen on the Randolph course almost every day during the summer.

Congratulations Ray Weyhrich for receiving the Jim Winch Service Award.

Osmond

I would like to nominate Randy Jochum for the Jim Winch award. He has been has not only been a big part of the Osmond school system but for the town of Osmond as well. He has spent numerous years as teacher, coach, principal, and athletic director to name a few. He has also been big part in helping with functions for the town of Osmond such as Summerfest which takes place every summer. He is now retired from the school system but is still involved through volunteering. This fall he was the one who painted and had the football field ready for every home game. He is now helping out with our boy's basketball team. So, I feel Randy is very deserving of the Jim Winch award for all he has done and for what he continues to do here in Osmond.
